Response Rates and Opt-Ins After Recent Compliance Changes

"We've noticed that the response rate has gone down, but the people who are replying are actually opting in because of how I've constructed our templates... It's been less than what it was but at least the people that are responding are the ones accepting an offer."

- Anthony "Mark" Kalixto
Launch Control user

"It actually works in our favor because we know that if they're opting in - it means that they're more interested, it's almost qualifying the lead a bit more. We know our sales team is going to have a better response. Our volume will go down, but if they're opting in, it'll help our conversions"

- Zachary Russell
